Southport man surrenders after allegedly driving into yard party

West Sacramento police say a man has been arrested after allegedly driving his Chevy Suburban into a yard party on Devon Avenue in Southport. The vehicle went through a fence, causing "major" leg injuries to two people.

Police were called to the corner of Devon Avenue and Kinsington Avenue at about 4 p.m. Saturday. According to a press release from Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department, 51-year old Edwin Morais "got into an argument with the resident on Devon Avenue over Stolen property."

"One witness stated Morais had a handgun in his waistband and displayed it during the argument," added Sockman. "After the argument, Morais got into his black Suburban and allegedly drove it through the fence at the residence and into an area where seven people were attending a party. No one was struck by the vehicle as he drove into the yard but the fence attached to the Suburban and that fencing struck two people on the legs causing what was described as major injuries.

"A short time later, officers found the Suburban backed into the driveway of Morais' home at the 1400 block of Lemontree Road. Officers surrounded the residence and called into the house for Morais to come out. Morais came out on the porch and acknowledged the officers but returned into his house. SWAT teams were called to the scene but were not utilized. Morais surrendered after approximately two hours without incident. Morais' wife was at home but was not harmed. Morais was arrested and will be booked at the Yolo County Jail on charges of felony assault with a deadly weapon."

32 years advocating for library

Crawford has finished 32 years of service on the county advisory board. Among the issues she pushed was the planning of the current version of the Arthur F. Turner Branch Library at 1212 Merkley Avenue. She's also been an active member of the West Sacramento Friends of the Library, volunteering to organize fundraising book sales, annual dinners and the Friends' newsletter. (courtesy photo)

$4,200 reward in dog cruelty case

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Donors have come up with $4,200 in reward money for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whoever bound and killed a small dog in West Sacramento last month.

A probation officer working with a yard maintenance crew found the dog on the afternoon of July 26 at 1720 Merkley Avenue, near Westacre Road.

"The dog's legs were bound together and its mouth was tied shut," according to the Animal Services Division of the Yolo County Sheriff's Department. "During the veterinarian's preliminary examination and X-ray, it was determined the dog's neck had been broken."

The dog was reportedly a stray male known as "B.J." to locals. It was 3-5 years old, small, with tan and white coloring.

Contributions have come in for the reward fund from Red Rover, an animal advocacy group ($3,500), Heller Racing ($500) and others, reaching a $4,200 total.

Meanwhile, a cat found dead and mangled in a West Sacramento gutter on Aug. 17 is apparently not the result of another incident of animal cruelty. A citizen found the animal shortly after midnight near the intersection of Westacre Road and Laurel Lane.

"It was confirmed by our vet injuries were consistent to be hit by car," said Vicky Fletcher of Yolo County's Animal Services Division.

Anyone with information on the dog's death is asked to help solve this "extreme case of animal cruelty," said the Animal Services department. If you have information, please call the department at (530) 668-5287 or call West Sacramento Police at (916) 617-4900.

Street repairs & ADA compliance are at center of roadwork project

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Residents of the Westmore Oaks area will see some digging, scraping and pouring happening on their local streets for a couple more months. Streets such as Meadow Road, Westacre Road and Fernwood Street are seeing their streets and sidewalks fixed, and their sidwalks brought into compliance with the Americans for Disabilities Act (ADA).

It's part of the "Westmore Oaks Street Rehabilitation Project," said Vin Cay, the project manager for the work in the West Sacramento Public Works Department.

"Basically, we're resurfacting the roads," Cay told the News-Ledger. "Primarily, it's slurry seal, but we have to do certain ADA concrete work, installing access ramps at all intersections and curb returns. On the bigger streets, like Westacre from US 50 to Park Boulebvard, we're going to repair two inches of the AC (asphalt/concrete)."

"If there are any sunken curbs and gutters, or sidewalks raised by trees, we will try to hit those first."

Contractors working for the City of West Sacramento are working on streets, sidewalks and gutters in a neighborhood near Meadow Road. The project is funded by local sales tax dollars and federal money (News-Ledger photo)

"In some instances, you may see curbs and sidewalks that don't meet ADA standards, and we're going to have to replace them," added Cay. "If you're rolling (a wheelchair) and it's to steep on the sideways grade, it's hard to roll."

"We hope to finish in early November," he said.

The project has been publicized on the city website and the contractor is expected to keep passing out flyers along affected streets as work continues. The project is funded by a federal grant and by Measure K, a local measure in which West Sacramento residents agreed to pay a sales tax surcharge to fund local projects.

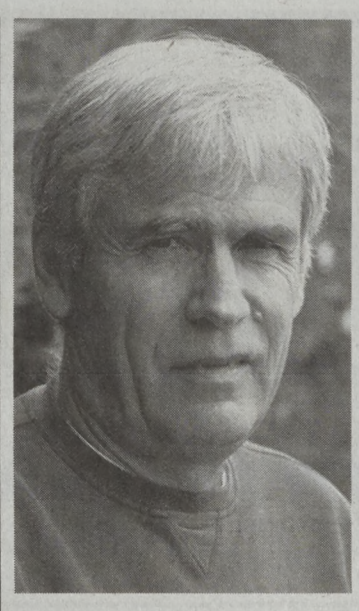
School board candidate withdraws

One early school board candidate withdrew his candidacy, leaving seven other challengers to compete with incumbents David Westin and Mary Leland for three available seats on the Washington Unified School District board of trustee's in November's election.

Nate Eckler reports that he canceled his candidacy before the filing period was over.

A fair & just world: hey, at least we can dream it

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I don't know if you saw it or not, but there was a really fascinating program on PBS the other night about dreaming. Among numerous other things, it talked about all the positive benefits our dreams bring to our conscious life and that even the scary dreams we have are helpful. They apparently give us a relatively safe place to learn how to deal with the stuff that frightens us and they also allow our brains to exercise all the crazy synapse connections that are needed to keep us healthy and out of harm's way.

Anyway, it was eye-opening to see how the scientific investigators in the program went about hooking up their human guinea pigs with all kinds of complicated electrodes to do their research and then hear the conclusions they drew from their data. But what was really interesting was that after I had finished watching the program, turned off the TV and went to bed, it was suddenly I who was deep in REM sleep and dreaming away. And my dream was so profound – to me anyway – that I decided to discuss it in some detail with a longtime friend the next day while everything was still fresh in my mind.

"So," said my not-all-that-interested friend, "you say you saw this program about dreams on PBS? You mean Channel 6, right?"

"Yeah."

"You know, I actually try to avoid watching that television channel as much as possible."

"Really?" I asked. "How come?"

"Well, if you watch a bunch of those PBS programs, before you know it you will start being informed and aware of all the lousy stuff that is going on in the world and I kind of like to keep my head in the sand when it comes to all that. Ignorance really is bliss, you know. In fact, I wish I could go back to those long ago days when everyone lived in small farming communities and didn't have a clue what was going on out there in the rest of the world. They just led their own lives, minded their own business, and lived happily ever after. Nowadays we're supposed to try to understand and relate to everyone else's problems and make the whole world a better place to live, and that's just way too much stress for me. Anyway, tell me about this dream of yours."

"To tell you the truth," I said, "I've never had a really vivid and memorable dream like that before. It was actually kind of scary."

"Well, just between you and me, I have never been much of a dreamer at all."

"Is that right?" I asked. "Maybe you actually have lots of dreams and just don't remember them? They were saying on that PBS show that lots of people are like that."

"No, I think I am just one of those people who not only dream very rarely, but when I do, they're so boring that I don't have any reason to remember them. I mean, even when I was young, I was the only one of my friends having dry dreams."

"I see."

"But since you had this great dream, come on, tell me about it."

"Well, in my dream a bunch of scientists suddenly discovered that a universal gene had gone haywire or something and that from now on, when people get really sick or end up in other kinds of serious trouble, it won't be because of some random nasty old germ or simple twist of fate, but rather because of something they had deliberately done wrong in their lives. So in my dream, if you dedicated yourself to living a really good life, then you never had to worry about getting sick or getting into other kinds of terrible trouble."

"I'm afraid I'm not really following you here, Daryl."

"Okay, I'll give you a couple of examples. For instance, in my dream's new world, if you eat only healthy food, you are guaranteed not to get diseases like stomach and bowel cancer; and if you don't smoke or drink, you're not just less likely to get lung or liver problems, you are 100 percent less likely to get them; and if you don't lie or steal and always tell the truth, then everyone will know it and never falsely accuse you of anything. In other words, life will always be fair and just."

"So," said my still confused friend, "let me get this straight. According to your dream, the day is coming when people will only get sick when they bring it upon themselves, and that in other areas of life, it will work pretty much the same way, with people only getting punished for the things they deliberately do wrong."

"Yeah, that's pretty much it."

"Okay, let's say your dream becomes reality, and that there will come a time when everyone gets only appropriately punished for the stuff they do during their life. So tell me, what do you think will happen in that world to someone who lies and cheats on their taxes – you know, like me and Mitt Romney?"

"Well, I'd say you're probably going to be in some pretty big trouble, but Mitt will be just fine."

"How come?"

"Because even in my dream world, the powers that be insisted that none of life's rules should apply to the super rich."

'In my dream a bunch of scientists suddenly discovered that a universal gene had gone haywire or something and that from now on, when people get really sick or end up in other kinds of serious trouble, it won't be because of some random nasty old germ or simple twist of fate, but rather because of something they had deliberately done wrong in their lives.'

Dudkin: 30 years to life for molesting girl

Yolo County District Attorney Jeff Reisig's office announced that on August 24, Superior Court Judge Stephen Mock sentenced West Sacramento's Dmitry Dudkin to 30 years to life in state prison for child molestation. Dudkin had previously been convicted of two counts of child molestation in this case after pleading no contest to the charges.

Dudkin, age 27, molested an 8-year old girl from 2009 to 2011, said a spokesperson from Reisig's office. The crimes were discovered when the victim went to school with a hickey on her neck. The victim told the police that Dudkin showed her pornography and asked her to perform various sexual acts on him. Dudkin took pictures of her with his cell phone. The Yolo County High-Tech Crimes Taskforce analyzed Dudkin's computers and cell phones and found provocative photos of the victim.

Deputy District Attorney Sara Abrate prosecuted the case. "The defendant victimized this 8 year old girl repeatedly by taking advantage of his position of trust," said Abrate in a press release. "This sentence ensures that he will never be able to harm this young girl, or any other children, again."

District Attorney Jeff Reisig praised the work of the West Sacramento Police Department and the District Attorney's High Tech Forensic Unit.

"The hard work and dedication of West Sacramento officers and our High Tech investigators was critical," said Reisig in a press statement. "Their efforts resulted in a plea, avoided a trial, and saved the young child from having to testify."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR: remembering Julius Feher

Thank you for your wonderful article entitled "I believe I see the future."

You did a wonderful job in providing historical information about Julius Feher (the founder of the News-Ledger) and his influence in West Sacramento, the city he loved. I worked at the paper part-time during some years I was in college. I worked in the front office doing a variety of duties. I respected Julius and felt privileged to work for him. I loved his sense of humor and respected his commitment to responsible reporting.

As I read your article I was taken down memory lane. One of the memories was from the presidential election in 1960.

Julius had me go to voting places after the polls closed to write down the presidential election results. As I arrived at the fire station on the corner of 15th Street and Alabama Avenue, Richard Nixon was giving his concession speech. Not wanting to miss any of that, I left my car door open with the radio turned up as I went to the sheet to record the results.

As I did, a lady who had worked at the voting booth asked me what was on the radio. I told her that Richard Nixon was giving his concession speech acknowledging that John F. Kennedy had won the election.

She said to me, "we are no longer the land of the free."

I asked her what she meant and she said, "the Pope will run the country." During the campaign there were many people who had a similar opinion.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Barbara Miller in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

The Petition for Probate requests that Barbara Miller be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9200. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. GUEST COMMENTARY:

Call before digging

Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) reminds residential and business customers to call 811 to have underground utility lines marked prior to any digging project. Every three minutes nationwide, an underground utility line is damaged during a digging project. These accidents can happen in a resident's backyard, not just on heavy construction projects.

Striking a single utility line can lead to injury, repair costs, fines and inconvenient service outages. Every digging project, no matter how large or small, warrants a call to 811. Some examples include installing a mailbox, building a deck, planting a tree and laying a patio.

A call to 811 connects homeowners and excavating contractors to Underground Service Alert (USA). This free service notifies utility companies about any type of excavation project. Utilities then dispatch professional locators to the requested digging site to mark the approximate locations of underground lines with flags, chalk-based spray paint or both.

PG&E offers these tips for a safe excavation:

- Call 811 at least two working days before and up to 14 calendar days in advance of an excavation or digging project.
- Customers will receive a list of notified utilities that may have underground lines in the area. If you believe a utility may not have marked its lines, call 811 again to notify USA.
- On paved surfaces, mark the proposed excavation area with white chalk-based paint. Homeowners can also use other white substances such as sugar or flour.
- On unpaved surfaces use flags or stakes to mark the proposed excavation area.
- Carefully use hand tools to excavate within 24 inches on either side of a utility-marked facility. Digging even a few inches deep can pose some risks of striking a utility line.
- Be careful not to erase facility marks while working. If you cannot see the markings, call 811 and request a remarking.
- 811 requests are active for 28 days. Notify USA if work continues beyond that time.
- Immediately notify utilities about any type of contact or damage to wires or pipes.
- If there is any damage to PG&E electric wires or gas pipelines, or if there is a possible gas leak, take these steps:

o Move to a safe location
o Call 911
o Call PG&E at 1-800-743-5000

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY SAM STRUCKHOFF

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Five-Year Engagement" (R) -- Jason Segel and Emily Blunt star in this charming romantic comedy about modern couplehood. It starts when Segel proposes to Blunt by the San Francisco bay, and everything is great. Then she gets accepted into a prestigious academic program in Michigan, so the wedding is put on hold and moved to the Midwest. And from there, the delays and little surprises keep on coming, and the length of the movie extends to over two hours.

Segel is proving himself a formidable writer/star. He plays the loveable goof like he was born for it. Blunt is adorable and has no trouble with on-screen chemistry. Chemistry seems to come to her so easily she might as well be hydrogen. If you can handle the run time and get past the sagging middle section, "The Five-Year Engagement" just might pay off.

"Safe" (R) -- Jason Statham is right where he needs to be on this one -- a get-what-you-paid-for straightforward action flick that delivers. This time he's a beaten-down cage fighter who ran afoul of the Russian mafia and lost his family. When he notices the gangsters who ruined his life are attacking a little girl, Statham springs into action without knowing the whole story.

EMILY BLUNT

This is the pasta with meat sauce of action flicks -- nearly impossible to mess up. The recipe is simple: A washed-up tough guy protecting an innocent from the pointless cruelty of an evil organization must shoot, punch, drive and grimace his way to redemption. If it's a rental action flick you want, know that "Safe" lives up to its title.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"Piranha 3DD" (R) -- A sequel to a painfully unfunny self-parody from 2010, this gorefest has about as much wit as the breast joke in its title. Once again, a bunch of annoying young people clamoring for a party by a body of water are exposed to an army of hungry, computer-generated piranhas. Too many winks at the audience and not enough talent behind the camera make this wannabe shocker an irredeemable waste of time.

"Re-Animator" (R) -- For a reminder of what a ghastly horror comedy can be, check out this re-release of the classic 1985 thriller. Based on a short story by H.P. Lovecraft, master of chills, this flick injects deadpan humor into a story about a science gone wrong. Dr. Herbert West invents a serum that can bring dead tissue to life, but his breakthrough is taken over by his corrupt superior, who uses it on himself.

Take Your Oats Out to Dinner

While oatmeal is a wonderful way to add fiber, grains, nutrients to your diet, most folks think of oatmeal as a breakfast food. It's time to take oatmeal beyond breakfast. Oatmeal is a whole grain because it contains all of the parts of the oat grain, including the bran, endosperm and germ. The interesting thing is that when we eat the regular oatmeal most of us grew up with, we aren't eating the grain in its original form. We are usually eating rolled oats. Rolled oats have been steamed and flattened. That process decreases the cooking time so old-fashioned oatmeal can be prepared in 10 to 25 minutes. Quick-cooking oats that can be prepared in 3 to 5 minutes have been cut even more finely to reduce cooking time.

Some people prefer steel-cut oats. The primary difference between steel cut oats and rolled oats is the shape of the grain. Steel-cut oats are not flattened -- the grain is cut into thirds and then packaged for sale. When preparing steel-cut oats, it's best to use 4 cups of water to each cup of oats. The cooking time for steel-cut oats is 30 to 40 minutes. Steel-cut oats have a chewy texture and hearty flavor.

All oatmeal is a good source of fiber, magnesium and thiamine. It also contains phosphorus, potassium, iron and copper. Oatmeal carries a health claim on the food label because of the fiber content. The health claim is that oatmeal -- along with a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol -- may reduce the risk of heart disease. Oatmeal is a good source of soluble fiber, which acts as a sponge in the digestive tract to help remove cholesterol from the body.

Adding oatmeal to these delicious Salmon Cakes boosts the nutrients and adds a delicious texture to the dish. The Yogurt Dill Sauce complements the Salmon Cakes and is the perfect topping if you prefer to serve the Salmon Cakes on a bun.

Need help cooling off? Do you know someone -- perhaps an elderly person -- who has trouble staying cool enough at home during a hot summer day? West Sacramento has three "cooling centers," open to the public during their regular business hours. The public may use the library at 1212 Merkley Avenue, the community center at 1075 West Capitol, or the Recreation Center, 2801 Jefferson Blvd. It's suggested you bring a bottle to refill with water at the sites, and an extra layer of clothes in case the air conditioning is too cool.

Six West Sac artists in KVIE TV auction

Works from six West Sacramento artists will be among the 300 artworks included in this year's auction to support KVIE Public Television.

In addition to art in the juried competition, the auction will also include works by master artists Annie Murphy Robinson, Eric Dahlin, Gregory Kondos, Mel Ramos, and Clayton Pinkerton.

KVIE will hold a Preview Gala to announce and honor the first place winners, in six categories, and the Best of Show winner. At the event, guests can mingle with artists, and try local wines and brews, hors d'oeuvres and chocolate desserts from 20 of our region's finest wineries and restaurants. Notice is hereby given that RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., as duly appointed trustee pursuant to the Deed of Trust executed by CRISTAN JAMES ROOMS AN UNMARRIED MAN, dated 01/03/2007 and recorded 1/25/2007, as Instrument No. 2007-0002948-00, in Book , Page , of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Yolo County, State of California, will sell on 09/24/2012 at 1:00PM, Ramada Inn & Suites, 1250 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, CA, 95691, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash or check as described below, payable in full at time of sale, all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 25754 STEPHENS STREET, ESPARTO, CA, 95627. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $371,854.39. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees; charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case TS No. 12-0046744. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site.
